This two-story I-shaped frame house at Bowen's Crossreads was built for Delia Ward in 1895. "German" siding and a new kitchen were added by Brooke and Ada Hutchins in 1938. Mrs. Hutchins operated a post office from the front parlor until 1946.

Noteworthy interior features include an octagonal newel post topped by a knob, and doors painted to simulate a fine wood grain.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

There are two more early homes in the immediate vicinity of the crossroads which help to document the early appearance of this village. One of them is the B. Hutchins House which occupies the lot that is bounded by both Old Adelina Road and Sixes Road. The east parlor is said to have been a Post Office after postal service was discontinued at the store. It is estimated that this structure was built at the close of the nineteenth century.
